

ABSTRACT

The description relates to a flexible fire protection plate having a plastic matrix and an inorganic filler made of a pliable organic binder in which a coarse-grained inorganic filler is embedded, as well as the use of this fire protection plate for the fire protection of openings in walls, floors and ceilings, especially of conduits for pipes and cables (Figure 1)